

The Arcade

A remnant of the St. James Hotel built in 1859 and façade, the arcade now serves as the formal covered promenade to the main building and loggia to the forecourt known as The Plaza. Ornamented by iron gates and historic gas lamps, the arcade measures 22' wide by 59' long.

This area can accommodate 70 guests for a ceremony or seated dinner and 90 guests for a reception.

BOARD OF TRADE

The Plaza

Offers a glimpse of the Board Of Trade building from Magazine Street. Designed along the lines of a small Parisian Park, the open court is paved in pink flagstone with four raised planters arranged around a beautiful fountain.

The Plaza can accommodate 200 for a ceremony and 150 for a reception.

This space is the alley directly adjacent to the Plaza.

The Board of Trade

The New Orleans Board Of Trade was founded in 1880, and trading continued on the floor until mid-1960. Chalkboards used to write the day's commodities are still in place and can be used for personal stories.

The maximum capacity is 300 for a buffet reception (limited seating);
250 for a seated dinner (no dance floor),
175 with dance floor; and 300 for a reception.
There is a built in mahogany bar and a movable dance floor.
